

Bob Fitzpatrick

Vice President,
Requirements & Capabilities

Bob Fitzpatrick is vice president of Requirements & Capabilities for Raytheon Missiles & Defense, a business of Raytheon Technologies. He leads efforts to identify and capture new business opportunities, both in the U.S. and internationally, for air and missile defense systems, precision weapons, radars, command and control systems and advanced defense technologies.

Fitzpatrick, a U.S. Army veteran, most recently served as vice president of business development for Raytheon Integrated Defense Systems, prior to Raytheon Company's merger with United Technologies Corporation in 2020. Before that, he held a similar role at Raytheon Missile Systems.

Fitzpatrick served 14 years in the U.S. Army as an attack helicopter operations officer, then worked for seven years in the U.S. Air Force's C-17 program office at Wright Patterson Air Force Base.

He holds an MBA from Keller School of Management and a bachelor's degree in aerospace engineering from Arizona State University.
